BANK STOCK.—An administrator of Thomas M. Ball, dec'd., will sell at public auction on Monday, March 3, county court day, 16 shares Lincoln National Bank stock. Thomas C. Ball.

The Secretary of the town of Crab Orchard, Mr. D. B. Edmiston, advertises that he will sell at auction there March 28, seven bonds of the town, of $100 each, bearing 6 per cent. interest.

This is the last day of the warmest winter this section remembers to have experienced. It is to be hoped that March has not in store for us the blizzards that have so far been spared us.

JUDGE SHELTON, of Rowland, says we were mistaken in our statement that it would be economy for his town to become a part of Stanford. The taxes there are much lower than here and the people are pretty well satisfied with the present arrangement.

THE LAST CALL.—S. L. Powers & Co. will wind up their great sacrifice sale with an auction to-morrow, Saturday, and Monday. The price of auctioneers, Mr. P. A. Pitman, will preside, and goods will absolutely be given away at your own price. See ad. on front page.

J. L. JOHNSON has been appointed postmaster at Kingsville, vice James Roy, resigned, and C. Ensslin at Ottenheim in place of N. Young, resigned.

Mrs. JANE BARROW has received of the Kentucky Grange Insurance Co. $2,000, amount of policy held by her late husband. Mrs. Allen Beasley is promised hers this week.

THE three-days' heavy rain put the St. Asaph and other streams on an unusual tear. The houses occupied by colored people in the lower end of town were inundated and a great deal of filth was swept on to other shores.

TRAINING FIRM.—Messrs. D. S. Carpenter, of Hustonville, and John B. Carpenter, of this place, have rented the fair ground track at Somerset and will remove thither in a few days and engage in training and breaking horses.

The trestle over Green River on the little road that runs from Kingsville to Yosemite had its foundation washed out by the freshet with its train on the other side. The trestle is still standing, but it has the shape of a camel's back.

The Fitzpatrick Bros. will present the great historical and spectacular production of Rip Van Winkle, at Walton's Opera House, Friday night, March 7th. During the day one of the most novel and interesting street parades will be given headed by a splendid brass band.

An old gentleman who had invested 50 cents in postage stamps before reading our paragraph about the change of size and color, was very much alarmed for fear he would lose them, till assured by the postmaster that our government never issues anything of value that it does not redeem.

MR. WATKINSON has accepted President James G. Givens' invitation to deliver his lecture on "Money and Morals" at Barbourville, March 6. The managers of the Opera House have invited the great journalist to make a date here if he can arrange to do so.

This section was visited by a wind-storm Tuesday afternoon, which almost amounted to a cyclone. A great deal of fencing and many trees were blown down and the K. C. engine-house at Rowland was completely wrecked. Fortunately no engine was in it at the time, so the loss in confined to the building alone, which was reduced almost to kindling wood.

The biggest thing in the show line that has been to Stanford in many a day holds the boards March 7th. Rip Van Winkle will be given with wonderful scenic effects by a company composed of 22 artists. Between the acts cornet, clarinet, alto, baritone and tuba solos will be given by the members of one of the finest bands traveling. See advertisement on this page and get your ticket at once.

The wind of Tuesday evening blew down the fence of Mr. D. W. Vandever's lot and the two fillies belonging to Misses Mattie and Nannie wandered out to the railroad track and were killed. Both were valuable, the younger a 3-year-old being very promising. Mr. Vandever spent $50 for training her last summer, when she developed some superior qualities. The young ladies are inconsolable.

GEORGE CROW, was fined $10 Wednesday for hitting another negro named Tom Harris in the eye with a rock. It seems that Harris was on the committee to keep order at the church at Boneyville and instead of a gentle reproach when he saw a person misbehaving he would strike them over the head with the billy he carried. Crow was seen talking and consequently got the consequence, which was a heavy rap over the head. This infuriated him and after church he took revenge by rocking him which gave the "order keeper" a bad looking eye to carry around for several weeks.

The heavy slides on the L. & N., between Livingston and Hazel Patch delayed all trains for 48 hours and caused the express from Louisville Tuesday night to be entirely abandoned. The whole side of the mountain seemed bent on sliding down, but a large force working day and night managed to let the first train through Wednesday. The Rolling Fork and other streams got on a terrible rampage, the former covering the track at Atherton's switch 36 inches or more. It soon ran down, however, and Wednesday's train from Louisville was only two hours late. For a day or more the lively noise of a train whistle was not heard here and Stanford seemed almost like it had swapped localities with Highland.

SEVERANCE & SON come to the front today to call attention to their spring goods and will continue to keep our readers posted as to what they have.

PROF. W. E. SHAW, the energetic and capable principal of the Southern Kentucky Normal Institute, at Mt. Vernon, advertises in another column that $30 will pay for a term of 10 weeks. The professor has worked hard to make this institution one of the best in the country and he deserves to be liberally patronized.

TWO MEN KILLED.—As yesterday's North-bound passenger drew up to the bridge on Hanging Fork the engineer saw two forms lying on the track about middle way of the bridge. He whistled and reversed the engine, but could neither awake the sleepers nor stop the train. When the train came within a few yards of them one awoke and throwing himself backward fell into the stream, the other was run over and besides having both legs cut off above the knees his entrails were cut out. He was taken to Junction City and was barely alive when last heard from. The other tramp has not been heard of and it is thought that he was drowned.

WATER WORKS.—City Councilman W. H. Miller is preparing a bill to empower the corporation of Stanford to issue bonds to the amount of $20,000 for the purpose of erecting water works. The bill provides for a vote on the question the 1st Saturday in April, when the sense of the people will be taken for or against the issue of bonds. It also provides a sinking fund for the payment of the interest and the cancellation of the debt, by requiring that a third of the liquor license, the entire amount of the other licenses and all fines and forfeitures, besides the profits of the water-works, shall be devoted to that purpose. The bill does not increase taxation and Mr. Miller thinks the bonds can be floated at par and paid off without such increase. In addition to securing absolutely pure water from one of the finest springs in the country and the other advantages to accrue from such convenience, we learn that the insurance companies agree to reduce the rate they charge here 40 per cent., which will be a saving to our people of over $1,200 a year. The pressure of the water will be such that no fire engine will be necessary. A hose attached to a fire plug will throw water higher than the Court-House cupola and consequently be able to cover any house in town. In addition to running the water works, the engines could also be made to furnish power for a dynamo to give us electric lights, which could be added at a comparatively small cost. The question is one that is of great concern to our people and we believe they will favor the project.

BECAUSE we did not rip and rant and tear our shirt for the continuation of a law, which never has and never can be executed, a few of the narrow-minded individuals, who endeavor to fool Old Master and pull the wool over their neighbors' eyes by arrogating to themselves all the purity and morality of the country, have sought to extinguish us by "withdrawing their patronage," as they condescendingly term taking the paper. It is well-known that we took no part and very little interest in the late election, but these goody-goody creatures think we ought to have, and they would punish us, as they think, as much for omission as commission. But they mistake their meat if they think the INTERIOR JOURNAL can be extinguished by any such means as they employ. The fact is we had rather take the name of one man from our list, who thinks we must think as he does and write accordingly, simply because he pays $2 a year for a paper, than add ten new names to it. We do not want anybody to take the paper as a favor to us. If it is not worth the subscription price let it go. We can afford to lose 500 subscribers and then have as large a patronage as is usually enjoyed by country journals. Besides, too, it is like killing flies, of which it is said that half a dozen new ones come to the funeral of every one that is killed. We rarely lose an old subscriber that we do not gain several fresh ones. So dear, misguided friend, do not think you will annihilate us by stopping your paper. The I. J. will continue to appear every Tuesday and Friday at $2 a year in advance, wearing no man's collar and accepting no man's, nor set of men's, ideas unless they happen to conform with its own.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The Rev. Moses D. Hoge, D. D., yesterday completed his 45th year of service as pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, at Richmond, Va. It is the only charge he has had, and he its only pastor. A great public demonstration marked the anniversary.

—A decree of Leo XIII, suspending the lenten fast throughout the world, has been read in the Catholic churches. It is said to be an event unprecedented in the history of the Roman Catholic Church. The prevalence of disease is assigned as the cause for this unusual announcement.

—The meeting at the Methodist church is growing in interest. Rev. J. R. Savage, the young man who is doing the preaching, is an earnest and forcible speaker, who believes in stirring up the old members as much as inducing new ones to attach themselves. The weather has militated against full houses, but it ought not to keep the members away. Services at 10 and 7.15 daily.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—The Courier-Journal says that Rev. M. M. Riley, an uncle of the groom, tied the knot uniting Mr. O. V. Riley and Miss Mary E. Jones and that Gov. James G. Givens and Miss Jennie Hinnen, of Louisville, stood up with the couple, who afterwards left for a bridal tour in the East.

Miss Nettie Thurmond, who was present, hands us the following: The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling dress and never looked better according to our judgment. The groom is quite a fine looking man and impressed us as being as courteous and clever as the bride is gentle and amiable. The good wishes of friends present and many others who did not witness the happy consummation of a love affair of some two years duration, go with them in their journey through life.

—Snow at Howland Flat, Sierra county, Cal., was 75 feet deep at the last measuring.
